Chapter 18: Prices, Wages and Labour Demand

This chapter references the prices, price indexes, labour and wage statistics published by Statistics New Zealand and its predecessor. Until the 1980s these subjects were generally reported together, as the references below show.

The Department of Labour also carried out a significant survey of employment, which was published in the Labour and Employment Gazette, a merger of two previous publications called Half-Yearly Survey of Employment and Monthly Review of Employment and Industrial Matters.

Near the end of the 20th century, Massey University Real Estate Analysis Unit produced a number of indicators of rentals and property prices and residential property affordability. See, for example, NZ Residential Rental Market, Vol 2, No. 4, December 1999. The home affordability index is on http://property-group.massey.ac.nz

This chapter has separate sections for the Consumers Price Index and related indexes, and for the Producers Price Index. Note that the preceding series to the Producers Price Index were called the Wholesale Price Index and General Price Index.

18.3 Consumers Price Index
The Consumers Price Index is published in the Monthly Abstract of Statistics and more recently in Key Statistics, sections 6.02 to 6.06. Information on the occasional revisions is published in a special volume, as supplements to the Monthly Abstract of Statistics and in the annual report on prices. (See the references immediately above and below in this section.)

Hot Off The Press releases and their predecessors, Information Releases, have been published regularly since 1954. See, for example, 1954, No. 2. These releases are a significant source of information on the reasons for movements in consumer prices.

Reviews and descriptions of the Consumer Price Index content and methodology are referenced in section 18.7.

18.8 Urban Property Price Index
A Residential Properties Price Index was produced half yearly from June 1960. This was replaced in 1973 by the Urban Property Price Index. The Department of Statistics ceased compiling this index in 1984. These two index series were published in the Price, Wages and Labour Reports (see reference 18.1.19 ff).

Similar indexes are produced by Quotable Value New Zealand and its antecedents. See, for example, Urban Property Sales Statistics, Half Year December 1996, tables 14 and 15.

18.9 Share Prices and Dividend Yield Indexes
A Share Prices Index and an index on Yields on Market Prices of Company Shares were produced by the Department of Statistics from 1929 to 1980. These are reported as annual series in the Price, Wages and Labour Reports (see reference in section 18.1). Quarterly series were

18.10 Wool Price Index
A Wool Price Index was produced by the Department of Statistics from 1953 to 1983. These are reported as annual series in the Price, Wages and Labour Reports (see references in section 18.1, for example Prices, Wages and Labour Part A 1983, table 38). See also, for example, the Monthly Abstract of Statistics, October 1982, table 21.01.

The Export Price Index has a commodity group covering wool. See references in section 18.12.

18.11 Producers' Prices
The Wholesale Price Index and subsequently the General Price Indexes and Producers Price Indexes and indexes of capital goods prices were published in the Monthly Abstract of Statistics and more recently in Key Statistics, sections 6.07 to 6.11.

Information on producer prices was included in the Annual Report on Prices. See the references in section 18.1.

18.12 Prices, Volumes and Terms of Trade of Exports and Imports
Information on the prices, volumes and terms of trade for merchandise exports and imports is included in the statistical reports (prices reports). See sections 18.1 and 18.2, and the overseas trade publications referenced in chapter 17.

These statistics are also in Information Releases. See, for example, Information Release 1983, No. 194, dated 23 August 1983. They are published in the Monthly Abstract of Statistics and more recently in Key Statistics, sections 7.10 and 7.11 (price indexes) and sections 7.05 and 7.07 (volumes).

18.13 Labour Demand Statistics
The availability of labour is referenced in chapter 7, sections 7.3 and 7.4, in particular in the quarterly Household Labour Force Survey (see section 7.4.9). Similar information can be found in chapter 6, Census of Population and Dwellings. The publications referenced in section 18.1 include some statistical information on labour demand.

This section references statistics on the use of labour, ie from the employers' viewpoint.
The Department of Labour carried out a regular survey of non-agriculture employers until November 1988. This was half-yearly until November 1979 and then quarterly from 1980. The results of this and some commentary were published in the Statistical Supplement to their quarterly publication. See, for example, Labour and Employment Gazette, Vol 19, No 1, February 1969.

There were reviews of labour statistics reported in the Report of the Review Committee on Labour and Employment Statistics 1989 and A Review of Labour Market Statistics October 1992.

Industrial stoppages are referenced in chapter 7, section 7.10. These were reported in the Monthly Abstract of Statistics and more recently in Key Statistics, section 3.10. See also, for example, Information Release 1976, No. 220.

18.14 Wages, Labour Costs and Wage Indexes

Some early information is included in Statistical Report on Prices, Wages and Hours of Labour, Labour Department’s Employment Bureaux, Factory Accidents, Building Societies, Bankruptcy, Incomes and Income-tax, Land and Land-tax, Meteorology for the Year 1924 (With a Statistical Summary of the Dominion from 1875 to 1924). References to this and other publications in the series are in chapter 18, section 18.1.

Prevailing weekly wage rates were calculated from 1977 to 1993. See, for example, Information Release 1980, No. 120, dated 20 June 1980. This series was replaced by the Labour Costs Index. See, for example, Information Release 1995/96, No. 175, dated 14 March 1996.

Real disposable income measures, applying appropriate deflators and tax rates to wages, were produced in the 1980s. See, for example, Information Release 1982, No. 268 and 1984, No. 199.

A Pay Research Centre operated in association with the Department of Statistics and produced studies of the income of particular occupations in the 1980s (see section 18.15).

The Household Economic Survey (see chapter 7, section 7.1), has some information on wages and other income related to other demographic characteristics.

The Quarterly Employment Survey has some information on earnings. See the preamble to section 18.13.

Some wage and income information is available from the population censuses. See chapter 6 and the preamble to this chapter.
